The Intercultural Alliance of Artists & Scholars, inc. (IAAS) is a NY-based nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization created in 2000 to enhance understanding of and respect for cultural diversity through literature and literacy. The IAAS's mission is twofold: (1) to strengthen the literary community by publishing and exposing multicultural writers through various venues; and (2) to provide programming that educates and informs all aspects of the population from varying and diverse backgrounds – from the poor and underprivileged, to the privileged yet undereducated – through the use of multicultural literature. The IAAS's overall goals are to foster literary talent and achievement, to advance the art of writing as essential to a good education, and to serve the writers, teachers, students and readers of contemporary literature.
